RWE Supply & Trading provides tailored energy solutions for large customers.

RWE has locations in the attractive markets of Europe, North America and the Asia-Pacific region. The company is responsibly phasing out nuclear energy and coal. Government-mandated phaseout roadmaps have been defined for both of these energy sources. RWE employs around 19,000 people worldwide and has a clear target: to get to net zero by 2040. - Our Procurement Terms and Conditions required all our suppliers to comply with the RWE Codes of Conduct. The RWE and Code of Conduct is consistent with the “Labour standards” set out in the United Nations Global Compact. They require all of our suppliers, both through their own activities and those within their own supply chains, to ensure that they do not commit any offences of “slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour”, “child labour” or “human trafficking”. This is consistent with the requirements of the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

The questionnaire submission will form part of the supplier’s tender offer and any resultant contract. As part of the questionnaire, suppliers are required to provide the Companies with details of their own procedures to ensure there are no occurrences of slavery or human trafficking within their business or supply chains, along with any identified risks. The supplier is also required to inform the Companies of any changes to their responses provided during the lifetime of any contract.
- The Companies exclude any potential bidders that appear on the World Bank Sanctions Lists or the EU Sanctions Lists from its formal tender process. The Companies’ current suppliers are audited against these lists on a regular basis and further investigations are carried out if required.
- In addition, our Procurement Terms and Conditions make specific reference to the requirements of The Modern Slavery Act 2015.

Due diligence processes in relation to slavery and human trafficking within our supply chains

- We take appropriate steps to verify that potential suppliers are not currently, nor have been previously involved in slavery or human trafficking.
- We require all suppliers and contractors to comply with the RWE Code of Conduct and also have pre-qualification checks carried out on all relevant new suppliers. These require suppliers to provide formal confirmation that there is no modern slavery taking place within their business or within their own supply chains. This applies to all suppliers, including those suppliers operating outside of UK.
- During 2021 we continued to identify and implement ways of strengthening our due diligence policies and procedures in relation to slavery and human trafficking within our supply chains. We conduct regular supply chain risk assessments on the information received from our existing and new suppliers.
- We reserve the right to audit any of our suppliers’ operations, facilities and working conditions, as well as their quality, environmental, ethical and health & safety procedures and systems. This is to ensure compliance with our Code of Conduct and our Sustainability Policy. As part of our pre-qualification process we reserve the right to have access to, and to audit, our tier 1 supplier’s supply chain if required.

The Companies are committed to implementation of all the required measures. The key performance indicators will be developed and implemented in 2022. This will allow the Companies to track and monitor the compliance with modern slavery legislation and reducing the related risks.

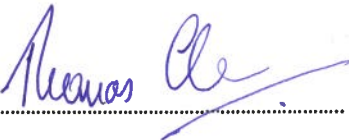

These key performance indicators are likely to relate to the training, supply chain risk assessment and adherence to the policies.

Training available to staff regarding slavery and human trafficking.

- Throughout 2021 a lot of our processes have been subject to revision and improvement. Our plans for 2022 include implementing our Modern Slavery training and strengthening risk assessments, to make our response to modern slavery and human trafficking more robust.
